M. Blanche Adams and M. Frances Adams
Memorial Scholarships in Zoology

Deadline: 5 PM, Wednesday, 28 March, 2012

Application for Graduate Student Scholarships

The Adams Summer Research Scholarship pays a stipend that is intended as financial support during June and July to allow full-time devotion to thesis or dissertation research. A student cannot concurrently hold an Adams Summer Research Scholarship and a Summer Graduate Teaching or Research Assistantship funded by a grant or the department.

The Adams Academic Year Scholarship is intended to help defray the costs of thesis or dissertation research and/or travel for professional purposes. The department expects that students will use any awarded funds accordingly. All graduate students in the department are eligible to apply for these academic year scholarships.

I wish to be considered for (check one): Summer Research _____ Academic Year _____ Both _____

Name: ___________________________ Previous Adams Funding? Yes _____ No _____

Current Address: __________________________

Email: ___________________________ Telephone number: ___________________________

Degree Sought: MS _____ PhD _____ Date entered program: ___________________________

Working title of thesis or dissertation: ____________________________________________

______________________________________________________________________________

I approve this application. ___________________________ (Major Professor Signature)

Other Required Information to be attached to this cover sheet in the following order:

1. On a separate sheet, please provide (total length = 1 page, 12 pt font):
   A. Brief statement of your career goals
   B. What do you consider your principal accomplishments so far in pursuit of your graduate education goals? This can include progress in research, attendance or presentations at meetings, publications, special courses, and participation in other educational experiences.

2. If you have previously received an Adams Scholarship, provide a brief (1 page) progress report for your most recent award describing that year’s research activity and how you used the funding. Be sure to include the date and type (Summer or Academic Year) of award.

3. A research plan for the coming summer and academic year, regardless of the type of scholarship for which application is being made. The maximum length is a total of three (3) pages (using 12 pt font) including any figures, tables and literature citations. Longer proposals will be returned without consideration.

4. A current copy of your Curriculum Vitae.

Six (6) collated, stapled hard copies of the cover sheet and items 1-4 are to be submitted to Dustye Johnson, Richards Hall 211 by the application deadline. Incomplete applications will not be considered.