Interior Design Juniors score 1st and 2nd place in the Oklahoma Illuminating Engineering Society Student Lighting Competition.

The Oklahoma Illuminating Engineering Society (IES) announced the winners for the 3rd Oklahoma lighting design student completion. IES invited interior design students from the division of interior design at the University of Oklahoma and architecture students from the college of architecture at the Oklahoma State University.

Kristi Klimacek and “Belle” Zhong Wenjuan, both interior design juniors, won 1st and 2nd price.

The competition was integrated as part of a studio assignment in lighting design. Architect in Partnership, a Norman architecture firm, provided the project, a 2 story medical administration building currently under construction in Norman.
