Indrani Goradia
Founder, Indranis Light Foundation &
Founding Member, Women’s Investment Network

Indrani Goradia is a philanthropist and advocate for women’s health and empowerment. She is the founder of Indranis Light Foundation, a nonprofit foundation dedicated to ending gender based violence and empowering women around the world with the tools to live healthy and meaningful lives.

Indrani has partnered with United Way in South Asia and the Caribbean to bring health, strength and wellness to women in need through Indranis Light Foundation. She is a tireless advocate for girls and women leading empowerment trainings in several countries around the world.

In 2013, Indrani joined the global health organization PSI and the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation to transform the lives of girls and women and lift them out of poverty. In partnership with PSI, Indranis Light Foundation has launched programs to eradicate gender-based violence in the United States, India and her home country of Trinidad in 2014.

An author, speaker and certified life coach, Indrani has delivered keynote addresses at conferences and leads workshops around the world. Most recently, she participated as a speaker at the World Women’s Health and Development Forum at the United Nations. She also recently participated on the keynote panel at the Nexus Conference in Jamaica, the UBS’s “It’s a Girl” conference in Switzerland, Global India Fund’s Girl Rising Screening and panel in D.C, Women Moving Millions and TEDx Port of Spain 2015 Conference. Indrani has most recently been invited to speak at the 2016 Women Deliver Conference in Copenhagen.

Indrani completed her formal education in New York City, attending Queens College and Kent State University. She is a tri-athlete, marathoner, and proud mother and wife.
