• Completed fall 2009, Gaylord Hall is 107,000 square feet of state-of-the-art technology and classroom space
• 4,000-square-foot Lindsey+Asp advertising and public relations agency including:
  – five idea-generation rooms
  – focus group room with audio/video capabilities
  – client presentation room
• New dedicated study and research space for all graduate assistants with private cubicles for doctoral students
• A 180-seat broadcast auditorium for classes, presentations and guest speakers
• Two television studios
• A two-story soundstage with infinity and green screens
• Two large, open computer labs and five computer classrooms equipped with Macintosh computers and industry-standard software from Adobe, Avid, Microsoft and Apple
• 10 dedicated video editing suites and a multi-track audio recording studio
• Large journalism and mass communication library with more than 5,000 books, periodicals and journals specializing in journalism, professional writing, strategic communication, broadcasting and electronic media

www.ou.edu/gaylordgrad