The Data-Driven Economy As A Matter Of National Security

Reception and Lecture with

Melissa Hathaway
President of Hathaway Global Strategies, LLC

Monday, October 26
Fred Jones, Jr. Museum of Art
5:30 p.m. Reception
6 p.m. Lecture

RSVP to rkmartin@ou.edu

Melissa Hathaway is a leading expert in cyberspace policy and cybersecurity. At the White House, she spearheaded the Cyberspace Policy Review for President Obama and led the Comprehensive National Cybersecurity Initiative for President George W. Bush. As President of Hathaway Global Strategies LLC, she advises the US and other governments, global organizations and private industries on risk management, technology investments, cyber strategy and policy. Additionally, Hathaway is an appointed member of the Global Commission for Internet Governance (Bildt Commission), and serves on the board of directors of several private and nonprofit entities. Earlier in her career she was a Principal with Booz Allen & Hamilton, Inc., where she led two primary business units: information operations as well as long-range strategy and policy support for the US Government and Global 500 companies. Melissa holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from the American University in Washington, DC and completed graduate studies in International Economics and Technology Transfer Policy. She is also a graduate of the US Armed Forces Staff College. She publishes regularly on cybersecurity matters affecting companies and countries.