Join us for this timely discussion about Iran and its role in the world today. As Iran and the US work on easing tensions, the situation in the Middle East is becoming increasingly difficult. What is Iran's role in the future of the Middle East and how does it effect the United States' interests in that region? Dr. Joshua Landis discusses these and other hot topics with Ambassador Mousavian.

Seyed Hossein Mousavian is a research scholar at Princeton University’s Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. Among his many roles, Mousavian was Iran’s Ambassador to Germany (1990-1997), Head of the Foreign Relations Committee of Iran’s National Security Council (1997-2005) and Spokesman for Iran in its nuclear negotiations with the international community (2003-2005). His two recent books are The Iranian Nuclear Crisis: A Memoir (Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, 2012) and Iran and the United States: An Insider’s view on the Failed Past and the Road to Peace (Bloomsbury Publishers, 2014).
