Dear Students:

The University of Oklahoma is committed to making available to current and prospective students the best possible information concerning scholarships. As higher education costs continue to rise and as the need for higher education becomes increasingly crucial for future success, the University recognizes the deep concerns students and their families have regarding the availability of student scholarships.

The University of Oklahoma has pledged to make available as many financial resources as possible to help families afford a college education. Our ultimate goal is that no qualified, hard-working student is ever turned away from our University because of financial need. The Campaign for Scholarships, launched by President Boren in 2005, successfully doubled the number of scholarships available to students. In September of 2014, the university launched the “Live On, University” campaign, led by a plan to boost OU’s scholarship endowment by an additional $100 million. The University's focus on endowed scholarship funds will ensure that future generations of our students receive the support they need to attend OU.

We are pleased to provide the 2015-2016 edition of the OU Scholarship Guide and we hope you will find it helpful. This guide reflects the input and cooperation of academic and student service departments, as well as faculty and staff.

The University deeply appreciates the impressive generosity of its many alumni and friends which is reflected in the wide range of awards recorded in this publication. Their generosity and support enables the University of Oklahoma to fulfill its mission of providing excellence in education to the people of Oklahoma and the nation.

Sincerely,

Bradley T. Burnett
Associate Vice President, Enrollment and Student Financial Services

Students who complete and submit the OU Freshman Scholarship Application and who declare a major in Engineering, Computer Science, or Environmental Science, will be considered for all College of Engineering freshman scholarships including those supporting diversity and multicultural engineering initiatives. Although there are many individual awards listed here in the Guide to Scholarships, students only need to complete and submit the OU Common Scholarship Application (Application for Admission) in order to be considered for all freshman scholarships. Awards are based primarily on academic achievement as demonstrated by ACT/SAT performance, GPA and class rank, but many awards will also take into account leadership, community involvement, and achievements related to math, science or technology. Deadline for these scholarships is February 1, 2014.

Transfer students should fill out the University Transfer Scholarship Application to be considered for any available scholarships. Deadline for these scholarships is March 1, 2014. Students may receive only one scholarship from this program.

Sophomores, juniors and seniors should apply through the school of their major to be considered for any available scholarships. Most school deadlines are either March 1st or April 1st each year. Check with your school to find out the exact deadline.

National Merit finalists qualify for a major scholarship award from the University. For more information call the National Scholars Program at (405) 325-1290 or natlscholars@ou.edu.

A number of scholarships awarded are subject to availability of funds. Students may also contact their individual school for additional scholarship opportunities.

NOTE: Freshmen will be considered for all awards by filling out the OU Common Scholarship Application, transfer students by filling out the University Transfer Scholarship Application, and upperclassmen by applying through their individual school.

ALUMNI CLUB SCHOLARSHIPS

The University of Oklahoma Alumni Association, through its various support clubs, has established local scholarships for students planning to attend OU. Each recipient is selected by a scholarship committee and is from a high school located in the club’s area of service. Exceptions to this would be those support clubs making a contribution to the Alumni Scholars program or the David A. Burr Scholarship Program. The scholarships vary in amount. The support clubs who sponsor these scholarships feel it is a great honor to assist the University in attracting outstanding students.
