HSCI 3313
Science and Technology in Asian History

Asia is a hotbed of scientific and technological developments in biotechnology, computing, and many other fields. How did Asia emerge as a global powerhouse of science and technical innovation? Join us as we explore the long history of science and technology in Asia, from the roots of major knowledge traditions in East and South Asia, to the accomplishments, controversies, and trajectories that define technoscientific Asia in the present day. TR, 4:30-5:45 Questions? Contact suzannemoon@ou.edu