This class is an introduction to vegetated roof design and management and will incorporate the green roof experimental site on the National Weather Center as well as green infrastructure projects in Norman/OKC area.

This will be an active-learning course including:

- Hands-on monitoring and management of the NWC experiment
- Photographic documentation and calculation of plant coverage
- Gathering and storage of seeds from this year’s plantings.
- Field trips to local installations with tours by the designers

Interested? Questions?
Contact Tom Woodfin twoodfin@ou.edu