If you ever dreamed of living abroad, learning a new language, understanding a new culture or simply embarking on an adventure, you will find all this and more on our International Lifestyles Explorations program. Challenge yourself on this authentic introduction to southern France and overseas living. This unique, flexible program offers an unprecedented opportunity for solo travelers, couples, friends and even families who want to spend time together in France.

Join us on this exciting, extended-stay program. You will have time to unwind and discover a part of Provence that most travelers never experience as you learn or improve your French and become skilled at navigating life overseas in this stimulating and beautiful corner of the world.

Spend a month living in vibrant, historic Aix-en-Provence. We have done all the leg-work by providing private accommodations in a modern, fully furnished apartment near Aix’s Old Town, just a short stroll from the famed Cours Mirabeau. We have arranged French lessons four days a week with your instructor; we call them Lifestyle Guides because they will assist in introducing you to Aix and the culture of Provence as well. A French cell phone will keep you connected to friends and family back home. We will also connect you to exclusive painting and cooking classes and specially designed hiking experiences to further enhance your experience.

Enjoy a healthy lifestyle reflective of traditional Provençal cuisine and get plenty of exercise, as Aix is definitely a town for walking. To help you get acquainted with the region, we have included excursions to the hill towns of the Luberon, Avignon, a winery in the famous wine region of Châteauneuf-du-Pape and

Dear Sightseeing Sooner,

Join University of Oklahoma fellow alumni and friends, as well as alumni from other colleges and universities on this unique program offering cultural immersion and international living. This exceptional opportunity is in Aix-en-Provence in the heart of one of the most storied regions in France.

Whether or not this is your first time living abroad, you will feel right at home in Aix-en-Provence. This small, lively city has a 600-year-old university and numerous art and cooking schools. The historic Old Town, near your own fully-equipped apartment, is known for its golden stone architecture and fountains. Enjoy your independence while knowing that AHI staff will always be available to support and enhance your experience.

Both first-time students of French and those who simply want to refresh their skills will delight in the language instruction provided by the eminent IS Aix-en-Provence International Language Institute. Classes are small and include students of the same skill level. Unlike most language classes, your studies will include a combination of classroom and outdoor instruction and learning.

Immerse yourself in Provençal customs, history and cuisine through lectures, workshops, activities and individual exploration. Your Lifestyle Guides will help you take the language out of the classroom and into the cobbled streets and tree-lined avenues of the city, where each day you see the practical applications of your newly acquired or enhanced skills in day-to-day settings.

Explore greater Provence with included excursions to the Luberon, setting for Peter Mayle’s modern classic “A Year in Provence,” as well as Marseille, Avignon and Châteauneuf-du-Pape. All the while, Aix will seduce you with its urban charm, wonderful restaurants and tranquil atmosphere.

Don’t miss this exciting program. AHI Travel has done all the legwork so all that is left is fun, learning and adventure. Space is limited, so make your reservation today!

Sincerely,

Lea Ann Quirk
Director of Alumni Programs
OU Alumni Association
Marseille, a cosmopolitan port city.

But one of the beauties of this program is that you shape your own experience. Shop in the local markets. Enjoy evening walks along Cours Mirabeau. Take in a music or theater performance. Explore the beautiful countryside. Stroll elegant cobblestone streets on your way to buy fresh fruit at a bustling outdoor market. Practice French as you order a café au lait after a Provençal cooking lesson. Enjoy a leisurely picnic in the lavender fields that inspired Cézanne. Our AHI Travel team will be available to help you in any way, but the experience is yours.

Here, amid the sun-drenched landscapes that inspired Matisse, Renoir and Van Gogh, you will experience French living at its best. As your French improves and you become settled in Aix, you will appreciate the nuances in the language and culture that escape the ordinary traveler. By the time you are ready to return home, you’ll have expanded your circle of friends and made Aix a home away from home.

Combining Provençal tradition and cosmopolitan flair, Aix-en-Provence beckons travelers and students from all over the world. With one of the oldest universities in France, Aix (pronounced “ex”) gracefully bridges past and present. Ancient monuments mingle with cozy cafés and fascinating museums, all bathed in the dazzling light of Provence.

During the 12th century, Aix became the capital of Provence under the powerful counts of Anjou. During this golden age of art and learning, the city blossomed. Today, art and learning are still associated with Aix.

The Romans, who built a city here because of the strategic location and the thermal springs, called their city Aquae Sextiae. Water has been integral to Aix’s identity ever since. A modern thermal spa stands upon the Roman ruins, and fountains are everywhere. You’ll find many of them along Cours Mirabeau, a majestic, tree-shaded boulevard flanked with elegant 17th- and 18th-century mansions and tempting pâtisseries. It’s no wonder Peter Mayle has called this “the most handsome street in France.”

Aix is a magical place to experience Provençal life. Restaurants abound while local markets overflow with fresh fruit and vegetables. Arts and music festivals add to the joie de vivre, the joy of living. Without a doubt, this is the ideal location to enjoy all that Provence has to offer.

AIX-EN-PROVENCE, THE CULTURAL HEART OF SOUTHERN FRANCE

UNESCO

The Historic Center of Avignon is a UNESCO World Heritage site featured in this program.
Parlez-vous français? This program includes 12 hours of French lessons per week with a small group taught by local Lifestyle Guides from the IS Aix-en-Provence International Language Institute. Lessons will be on alternate mornings and afternoons. Everyone from beginners to French majors can develop their skills and put them to use in the city. Speaking the local language, you will quickly become adept and comfortable in the lifestyle of Aix.

For more than 35 years, IS Aix-en-Provence has been teaching French to adults who also want to immerse themselves in the French lifestyle. IS Aix-en-Provence has received the French Foreign Language Quality certification, which is bestowed by three French government ministries: Higher Education and Research, Foreign and European Affairs, and Culture and Communication. It also is accredited by E AQUAL S (Evaluation and Accreditation of Quality in Language Services), an international standards organization.

During your stay, you will connect with the people and culture of Provence through an extensive program of included activities and optional opportunities from cooking and painting classes to inspiring hikes through the Provençal countryside.

When the weekends roll around, there is ample time to explore Provence on your own. Each Friday evening, kick off the weekend with your fellow travelers at a café for drinks and conversation. On Saturdays and Sundays, linger in Aix or venture further afield. On Monday evenings, share your adventures with your fellow travelers over dinners of delicious Provençal cuisine.

At the end of your month stay, you will come away with enhanced language skills, new friends and memories for a lifetime.

Peter Mayle spent a year here, but you will have a month to explore this fascinating region. And, who knows, you may come back for a year. With so much to do and see, it would not be a surprise. As an extended-stay resident, you will come to know Aix intimately. There are three types of public buses to take you almost anywhere you wish to go, but Aix’s tree-lined avenues and narrow cobbled pedestrian streets, lined with dozens of restaurants, cafés and shops, are made for strolling. This is the way to experience all the charm of this town. Throughout your time in Provence, you will find yourself walking these bustling streets just as the locals do. And along the way, you will find fresh fruit and vegetable markets, fashionable shops and many a café for a pleasant break as the swirl of Provençal life parades along.

To complement your studies and enhance your understanding of Provençal culture and history, we are offering several exclusive activities.

We have arranged for a series of lively lectures provided by local experts to enhance your insight into the region. They are:

- The History of Provence
- The Art of Provence
- The Origin of Wine in France

Local experts will provide you with an assortment of additional learning opportunities. Enjoy hands-on painting classes amid the very scenes that inspired painter Paul Cézanne. Cooking classes will be offered in a local school in English to ensure you understand every nuance as you learn to make Provençal and French specialties. Hikes will take you into the lovely Provençal countryside.

In addition to AHIT’s three optional activities, IS Aix-en-Provence offers many opportunities to pursue your interests and hobbies with a French twist! The school will post a calendar of activities during your stay. The events may include outings to the theater, excursions to nearby towns, cooking lessons and other cultural activities.

The cost of these extracurricular activities are not included in the main program price and require a minimum number of participants to operate.
Olives were brought to Provence by the ancient Greeks and have been present in the region ever since. Vineyards crisscross the land from north to south, and local markets overflow with cured olives and virgin olive oil, the base of most dishes. Meals often begin with a tapenade, a savory purée of olives, capers and anchovies, on toast.

The region also produces some excellent wines. At restaurants, vin de la maison, the house wine, arrives in a carafe and is a good value. There are many robust reds, including Châteauneuf-du-Pape, which comes from vineyards planted by the Avignon popes in the 14th century.

MARKETS OF DELIGHT

Les marchés, street markets, are a big part of life in Aix. Locals arrive daily to purchase produce from farmers, mingle with neighbors and catch up on gossip. The markets generally open at 8 a.m. and close in the early afternoon. Aix’s specialty markets are open on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Place des Prêcheurs and Place de la Madeleine have terrific food markets, where you’ll find fruit and vegetables, herbs, cheese, olives and cured meats. Sunflowers, roses and potted olive trees fill the flower market at Place de l’Hôtel de Ville. And don’t miss the antiques and flea market.

While shopping, the general rule is “ne touchez pas,” don’t touch. Rather, point and let the vendors, some of whom may speak a little English, serve you. They’ll tally your bill on a scrap of paper and hand it to you.

THE LUBERON
Spend a wonderful Sunday discovering the villages of the Luberon, the rustic countryside made famous by Peter Mayle’s “A Year in Provence.” Journey through valleys dotted with lavender fields and vineyards, set against a stunning mountain backdrop. Centuries ago, the area’s hilltowns provided strategic fortification against invasion. Today, they speak of a bygone era.

The charming village of Isle-sur-la-Sorgue is famous for its antique market and is also noted as the birthplace of Cubism. Continue to the red-ocher village of Roussillon, where the houses display a stunning palette of russet, gold and orange. Nearby Gordes, perched above olive terraces, boasts views across the valley and an impressive Renaissance château.

AVIGNON AND CHÂTEAUNEUF-DU-PAPE
Spend a day exploring Avignon and Châteauneuf-du-Pape, located in the heart of the Vaucluse. Situated on the banks of the Rhône River, Avignon enjoyed political prominence as the seat of the papacy in the 14th century. As a result, it evolved into a lively hub of arts and learning — a tradition that continues to this day. Visit the fortress-like Palace of the Popes, a medieval masterpiece bristling with ramparts, towers and turrets.

Enjoy lunch in the beautifully preserved medieval town center, a UNESCO World Heritage site. Then continue to the hilltop village of Châteauneuf-du-Pape, where some of France’s finest wines are produced. Explore centuries-old vineyards planted by the Avignon popes, who were great wine lovers. The Châteauneuf-du-Pape blend includes 13 varieties of grape, resulting in rich, full-bodied flavors. At a wine-tasting cellar, we’ll taste some of the robust wines for which the town is known.

MARSEILLE
Enjoy a half-day excursion to Marseille, a bustling port city overlooking the Mediterranean. France’s second-largest city, Marseille is infused with a vibrant, cosmopolitan air. With a melting pot of inhabitants dating back to the ancient Greeks, it’s no wonder Alexandre Dumas called this “the meeting place of the entire world.” Here, souk-like African bazaars share the streets with Provençal markets in an intriguing cultural fusion. Upon arrival, take in sweeping views from the basilica of Notre-Dame de la Garde, a neo-Byzantine work of art which towers above the city. Then venture into the Old Port, where sailboats depart for nearby islands and fishing boats unload their catch, destined to star in a pot of world-famous bouillabaisse.

Explore the lovely marina flanked by cafés and fish markets. To the north is the oldest district, Le Panier, rebuilt after World War II. With its colorful neighborhoods and coastal setting, Marseille offers endless delights.

A CRAFTY CITY

Many of Aix’s shops and boutiques sell crafts evoking the colors, scents and flavors of Provence. Lavender flowers and essential oil are incorporated into soap and shampoo, perfume and candles. Olives, too, find their way into many items, including blocks of savon de Marseille, the famous soap of Marseille, and bowls and utensils sculpted from olive wood. Thanks to its rich clay soil, Provence has a long tradition of handmade pottery, from colorful tiles to terracotta cookware. You’ll also find terracotta santons, charming Christmas crib figurines in traditional costumes that are made only in Aix. Colorful fabrics, indiennes, are sold by the meter and sewn into furnishings, clothes and sachets containing fragrant Herbes de Provence — all excellent gifts for yourself or your friends back home.

ENTERTAINMENT IN AIX

You won’t have trouble filling your leisure time in Aix, with its many choices for museums and cinema, theater and ballet. Aix is famous for its arts festivals, which are held at various times throughout the year. You may come across a fête, a local Provençal festival. Usually related to saints’ days, traditions or seasons, these festivals often include a church procession followed by a sports competition and a delicious feast. For a pleasant evening, look no further than Aix’s many lively cafés and excellent restaurants. Drink in the history along with an apéritif at Les Deux Garçons, the legendary brasserie on Cours Mirabeau that has drawn figures such as Pablo Picasso, Albert Camus and Edith Piaf since 1792.

OUTDOOR FUN & RELAXATION

Aix-en-Provence is a great walking city, with pedestrian-friendly thoroughfares, parks and gardens. Cycling is popular, too. There are several places in Aix where you can rent bicycles at a reasonable price. Outside the city, cypress trees, vineyards and lavender fields provide a fairy-tale backdrop for activities including hiking and horseback riding. The major landmark of the area, Mont Sainte-Victoire, is a popular recreation area. Here, in the shadow of the mountain that inspired Cézanne, there are paths and hikes for outdoor enthusiasts of all levels.
In Aix, you can enjoy thermal baths like the ones celebrated by the Romans. Thermes Sextius is a modern, airy spa complex in the center of the city, and it was built on the site of ancient Roman baths. Here, you can unwind from your busy day with soothing thermal pools, hydrotherapy, massages and more. Remnants of the original baths are still visible beneath glass panels in the lobby.

Provençal Trivia

- Q What do you call residents of Aix?
  - A Aixois

- Q Which insects provide the background music, the distinctive chirping heard during summer, of Provence?
  - A Cicadas

- Q What is the origin of the word “lavender?”
  - A Lavender comes from the Latin lavare, which means “to wash.” Ancient Romans used lavender to perfume baths, linen and homes.

- Q Who was Paul Cézanne’s close friend, also born in Aix?
  - A The French novelist, Emile Zola

- Q Why is the famous regional wind, the mistral, nicknamed mangio fango in the Provençal dialect?
  - A Mangio fango means “mud-eater,” referring to the wind’s drying effect on the air and soil.

- Q What is the name of the tree that Vincent van Gogh often painted while living in Arles?
  - A Cypress

- Q Where does the shape of Provence’s curved terracotta roof tiles come from?
  - A The design dates back to ancient Greece and Rome, where they’re believed to have been molded on a potter’s thigh.
