Program Student Learning Outcomes

College:  Architecture
Program:  Architectural Urban Studies, MS

Graduates of the M.S. in Architectural Urban Studies should be able to:

- Demonstrate knowledge of participatory design methods with community stakeholders and citizens.

- Demonstrate basic proficiency in computer software used by urban designers, especially Geographic Information Systems.

- Describe vocabulary related to the design of the city and apply them to practices of the professions of architecture, landscape architecture, real estate development, civil engineering and city planning.

- Demonstrate research and creative thinking skills in the area of community planning, urban research or city design.