Program Student Learning Outcomes

College: Arts & Science
Program: Cellular and Behavioral Neurobiology, PhD

Graduates of the PhD in Cellular and Behavioral Neurobiology should be able to:

- Develop a broad knowledge of the neurobiology of normal animal behavior, from ethological and psychological approaches through cellular and molecular approaches.

- Develop the ability to conduct independent research in cellular and behavioral neurobiology.

- Develop scientific critical thinking skills.

- Develop the ability to teach undergraduates effectively.