College: Education
Program: Adult & Higher Education, PhD

- The doctoral program in Adult and Higher Education is directed toward the development of scholars and practitioners in Adult and Higher Education and is intended to serve individuals who have promise of making scholarly and professional contributions to the field of Adult and Higher Education. Doctoral students are prepared to serve as faculty, administrators, foundation officers, researchers, university presidents, and various positions throughout the field of higher education.