Engage in an inclusive discussion about artmaking and identity with contemporary artists Will Wilson and Jeffrey Gibson, curators heather ahtone and Jennifer Scanlan, and several community leaders.

exchange takes as its starting point two current exhibitions: Will Wilson, PHOTO/SYNTHESIS at the Fred Jones Jr. Museum of Art, and Jeffrey Gibson: Speak to Me at Oklahoma Contemporary Arts Center, and explores topics central to both. The program reverses the traditional symposium format. After a curator-led discussion with the artists, the audience will be invited to contribute and develop the ideas further in breakout sessions. Questions will include: How do artists engage history? How much freedom does an artist have to interpret traditions?

Light refreshments and pie will be provided.

2–4 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 11

At the Fred Jones Jr. Museum of Art

555 Elm Ave. Norman, OK 73019-3003

fjjma.ou.edu

Learn more about Jeffrey Gibson: Speak To Me at oklahomacontemporary.org

For accommodations, please call Visitor Services at (405) 325-4938. The University of Oklahoma is an equal opportunity institution. www.ou.edu/eoo