Family Day Returns to OU Art Museum June 26

NORMAN, OKLAHOMA – Families are invited to make an artistic mess in the museum’s classroom during Family Day, a bi-monthly event that offers educational, hands-on activities for all ages. The event will take place at the Fred Jones Jr. Museum of Art from 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday, June 26.

This Family Day will focus on the museum’s current exhibition Vision | Revision: The School of Art and Art History Faculty Exhibition. A range of artists’ materials will be introduced during the day to celebrate the diverse talents of the University of Oklahoma art faculty.

“Family Day is a great way for kids to experience the fun side of art,” said Karen Bowles, curator of school and family programs. “It brings out their natural instinct to create, and parents are more than welcome to join in.”

Offered on the heels of the popular annual student exhibition School of Art and Art History Faculty Exhibition features works by OU faculty across multiple art disciplines and media. The exhibition will be on display through Sept. 4, 2016. Admission to Family Day is complimentary and open to all museum visitors.

The Fred Jones Jr. Museum of Art is located in the OU Arts District on the corner of Elm Avenue and Boyd Street, at 555 Elm Ave., on the OU Norman campus.
