Course Title:
Ethical Issues in Human Relations Counseling

Course Number:
HR 5453-107

Course Description:
This course provides a review of current professional, ethical, and legal standards, as well as practices related to the counseling profession including the philosophical, moral, and practical underpinnings for each. Professions are identified by their ethical codes. Following a discussion of general principles of ethics, this course will address the major principles of professional conduct, using a case scenario format to facilitate discussion. The course is designed to develop ability to identify ethical dilemmas, apply ethical reasoning, and take appropriate professional action when facing those dilemmas.

Assignments, Grading and Due Dates:

The primary text will be Issues and Ethics in the Helping Professions, supplemented with the reproduced and distributed materials. Students should familiarize themselves with the required textbook prior to the class. Some materials will be made available or accessed on-line. Supplemental materials will be posted electronically, as much as possible.

To fulfill the requirements for this course, each student will complete the following:

Readings:
Complete assigned readings appropriate to the class discussion, with due dates given by the instructor.

Participation:
Participate in general classroom discussion and learning exercises. Personal texting or Internet activities not relevant to classroom discussion are highly discouraged and may result in loss of participation points. Class Participation is included in grading. Students who are obviously distracted with cell phone use, texting, or non-class computer work may expect loss of points for class participation.

Quizzes:
Complete three quizzes. Quizzes will be given over the material covered in class and the relevant textbook sections. Quizzes will include objective questions, with one or two short essays. One quiz may be a take home.

Presentation:
Provide an in-class presentation compatible with the course topics. Students may utilize the textbook material and supplement it with additional material. Each student (or student team of not more than 2 students) should provide a 15-20 minute presentation, which may use but is not required to use PowerPoint format. If class enrollment warrants, students may pair up another student in their professional specialty, for the presentation/discussion.
Students should provide a 1-2 page handout for their presentation, with basic information and resources. The topics may be suggested to correspond with the lecture-class discussion subjects. Students’ presentations will be graded for professional style, organization, knowledge, effective communication, and comprehensiveness. Additional guidelines for the presentation will be provided in class.

Sample of Final Paper:
Submit a sample (3-4 pages) of the final paper, due by the end of class, Sept. 12. The sample paper will be corrected and returned to the student, to enhance understanding of the professor’s grading criteria, allowing incorporation of editorial comments and corrections.

Final Paper:
Submit a scholarly paper on an ethics issue. This should be a scholarly paper, not a personal reflection paper. The paper will be graded on readability, documentation, organization, and thesis development. This paper should be 12-13 pages in length, APA style, covering a particular area of interest, using 12-15 sources. Students may use the same topic for the presentation and the scholarly paper: students should not use a topic used in a previous class. Additional guidelines will be presented in class and may also be available electronically.

The papers can be submitted to the professor via e-mail or fax. The professor will confirm successful receipt of the final papers via reply to the students’ email. Please identify your final paper by using “OU Final Paper from Student Name” in the subject line of your e-mail.

Students may use the main textbook as one of their sources for the paper, but are cautioned against relying on it. Citation of secondary works from the textbook is only allowed if students read those original works first-hand.

Citation of information in the body of the paper without notation of the professional source is unacceptable professional and is considered plagiarism. Lack of citation will result in loss of points.

Final papers are due Sunday 2 weeks after the last day of class.

POLICIES AND NOTICES

Attendance/Grade Policy

Attendance and participation in interaction, individual assignments, group exercises, simulations, role playing, etc. are valuable aspects of any course because much of the learning comes from discussions in class with other students. It is expected that you attend all classes and be on time except for excused emergencies.

Excused absences are given for professor mandated activities or legally required activities such as emergencies or military assignments. It is the policy of the University to excuse absences of students that result from religious observances and to provide without penalty for the rescheduling of examinations and additional required class work that may fall on religious holidays. Unavoidable personal emergencies, including (but not limited to) serious illness; delays in getting to class because of accidents, etc.; deaths and funerals, and hazardous road conditions will be excused.

If you are obtaining financial assistance (TA, STAP, FA, VA, Scholarship, etc.) to pay all or part of your tuition cost, you must follow your funding agency/institution’s policy regarding “I” (Incomplete) grades unless the timeline is longer than what the University policy allows then you must adhere to the University policy. Students who receive Financial Aid must resolve/complete any “I” (Incomplete) grades by the end of the term or he/she may be placed on “financial aid probation.” If the “I” grade is not resolved/completed by the end of the following term, the student’s Financial Aid may be suspended make the student ineligible for further Financial Aid.

Students are responsible for meeting the guidelines of Tuition Assistance and Veterans Assistance. See the education counselar at your local education center for a complete description of your TA or VA requirements.

Academic Integrity and Student Conduct

Academic integrity means honesty and responsibility in scholarship. Academic assignments exist to help students learn; grades exist to show how fully this goal is attained. Therefore all work and all grades should result from the student's own understanding and effort.

Academic misconduct is any act which improperly affects the evaluation of a student’s academic performance or achievement. Misconduct occurs when the student either knows or reasonably should know that the act constitutes misconduct. Academic misconduct includes: cheating and using unauthorized materials on examinations and other assignments; improper collaboration, submitting the same assignment for different classes (self-plagiarism); fabrication, forgery, alteration of documents, lying, etc…in order to obtain an academic advantage; assisting others in academic misconduct; attempting to commit academic misconduct; destruction of property, hacking, etc…; intimidation and interference with integrity process; and plagiarism. All students should review the Student’s Guide to Academic Integrity at http://integrity.ou.edu/students_guide.html

Students and faculty each have responsibility for maintaining an appropriate learning environment. All students should review policies regarding student conduct at http://studentconduct.ou.edu/
