Course Title:
Topics in Legal Studies: The Legal and Ethical Environment of Business

Course Number:
LS 5970-220

Course Description:
This course introduces the student to the legal and ethical environment of business. Topics include the law of civil procedure, criminal law, tort law, and contract law. The course also examines the relationship between law and ethics, using case studies to illustrate both legal and ethical dimensions of business decisions. Discussions of political economy and legal philosophy add depth to the course.

2. Materials posted on the OU Desire to Learn (D2L) system: Access D2L at http://learn.ou.edu; enter your OU NetID (4+4) and password, and select course to access material. Please contact your local Site Director if you require assistance.

3. All reading materials for successful completion of the term paper can be accessed through the Lexis/Nexis database supplied on-line through the University of Oklahoma Library system: http://libraries.ou.edu/. Select “Resources”; “Databases & E-Reference Materials” and then browse by letter.

Note: Follett is the Advanced Programs contractual textbook provider. Should text changes become necessary after publication of the course syllabus, Advanced Programs will facilitate text returns/refunds only for texts purchased through Follett.

Course Objectives:
The goal of the course is to enable the student to recognize and to address legal and ethical issues as they arise in business practice. The student acquires sensitivity to when legal counsel may be required and develops a vocabulary that facilitates communication with that legal counsel.

Assignments, Grading and Due Dates:

Suggestions for Preparation:
It is imperative that you read the assigned material before the course begins. In addition to the textbook chapters listed on this syllabus, I have posted two readings on D2L that also are to be read prior to the first day of class. I will distribute my lecture notes on the first day of class. These notes are coordinated with the Mallor text and should facilitate your ability to draw information from class discussions/lectures. I will follow these notes in class, expanding, explaining, and giving examples as we go. Each chapter in the Mallor text has about six actual case decisions. We will discuss many of these cases in class. On our first meeting, I will assign to each student a responsibility to lead class discussions on given cases. I will explain what this means when we meet. For now, read the assigned chapters in advance so as to better draw information from our class discussions/lectures.

Term Paper:
The term paper provides an opportunity to analyze a legal and ethical dispute in depth, applying concepts and reasoning techniques developed in Legal Studies 5970.

Assignment: Written Case Analysis (8-12 pages typed). Select a case to analyze from a list provided by the professor. Read the opinions of each court that decided the case, including trial court, appellate court and Supreme Court (if applicable). Read at least three scholarly reviews of the case or of the case topic. Analyze the case, footnoting both the court opinions and the scholarly reviews employing the analytical skills we develop in LS 5970. Create a sophisticated legal argument explaining who should have won the case and why. Due Date: 21 days after the last day of class – May 24, 2015.

Grading:

This is a letter-graded course: A, B, C, D, or F. Your grade will be determined by your performance on a comprehensive final on the last day of class, together with the term paper described above. The final exam is worth 100 points. The term paper is 50 points. I will consider the quality of class participation for “borderline” students.

Notice: Failure to meet assignment due dates could result in a grade of I (Incomplete) and may adversely impact Tuition Assistance and/or Financial Aid.
POLICIES AND NOTICES

Attendance/Grade Policy

Attendance and participation in interaction, individual assignments, group exercises, simulations, role playing, etc. are valuable aspects of any course because much of the learning comes from discussions in class with other students. It is expected that you attend all classes and be on time except for excused emergencies.

Excused absences are given for professor mandated activities or legally required activities such as emergencies or military assignments. It is the policy of the University to excuse absences of students that result from religious observances and to provide without penalty for the rescheduling of examinations and additional required class work that may fall on religious holidays. Unavoidable personal emergencies, including (but not limited to) serious illness; delays in getting to class because of accidents, etc.; deaths and funerals, and hazardous road conditions will be excused.

If you are obtaining financial assistance (TA, STAP, FA, VA, Scholarship, etc.) to pay all or part of your tuition cost, you must follow your funding agency/institution’s policy regarding “I” (Incomplete) grades unless the timeline is longer than what the University policy allows then you must adhere to the University policy. Students who receive Financial Aid must resolve/complete any “I” (Incomplete) grades by the end of the term or he/she may be placed on “financial aid probation.” If the “I” grade is not resolved/completed by the end of the following term, the student’s Financial Aid may be suspended make the student ineligible for further Financial Aid.

Students are responsible for meeting the guidelines of Tuition Assistance and Veterans Assistance. See the education counselor at your local education center for a complete description of your TA or VA requirements.

Academic Integrity and Student Conduct

Academic integrity means honesty and responsibility in scholarship. Academic assignments exist to help students learn; grades exist to show how fully this goal is attained. Therefore all work and all grades should result from the student's own understanding and effort.

Academic misconduct is any act which improperly affects the evaluation of a student’s academic performance or achievement. Misconduct occurs when the student either knows or reasonably should know that the act constitutes misconduct. Academic misconduct includes: cheating and using unauthorized materials on examinations and other assignments; improper collaboration, submitting the same assignment for different classes (self-plagiarism); fabrication, forgery, alteration of documents, lying, etc...in order to obtain an academic advantage; assisting others in academic misconduct; attempting to commit academic misconduct; destruction of property, hacking, etc...; intimidation and interference with integrity process; and plagiarism. All students should review the Student’s Guide to Academic Integrity at http://integrity.ou.edu/students_guide.html

Students and faculty each have responsibility for maintaining an appropriate learning environment. All students should review policies regarding student conduct at http://studentconduct.ou.edu/
