Course Objectives:

The objectives include familiarity with: the history of the global economy and inequality; an understanding of inequality as being a consequence of historical processes; the emergence and changes in development theory; an understanding of the different views about development. Additionally, students will be introduced to the ideas of several scholars who reject the standard notions of “more” as a goal for development and human societies.

Course Outline:

This course has been divided into ten, roughly half day sessions, associated with the readings.

Assignments, Grading and Due Dates:

Preparation, Presentation and Participation

Preparation, presentation, and participation during the seminar will constitute the other 20% of the course grade. On each session of the class, come prepared to give a five minute summary of the primary issues and arguments presented in each chapter or reading. Also, come with comments, observations, affirmations or contradictions to the viewpoints of the authors; I will ask different members of the class to present summary introductions for selected readings and I will expect each student to have comments, observations, and/or questions for each chapter/reading.
Final Exam:
There will be an exam on the last day of class (40% of the course grade).

Post-course Assignment:
Additionally, a paper based on the readings assigned for course will be due 11:59pm GMT, February 8th, 2015 (posted into a drop box on D2L). The prompting question(s) for this paper will be posted on the D2L site before session 8 of the class. I will ask you to use the reading materials to prepare a ten to twelve page paper on issues discussed by us in class and by the authors of the course readings (40% of the course grade).

Grading:

This is a letter-graded course: A, B, C, D, or F.

Policies and Notices

Attendance/Grade Policy

Attendance and participation in interaction, individual assignments, group exercises, simulations, role playing, etc. are valuable aspects of any course because much of the learning comes from discussions in class with other students. It is expected that you attend all classes and be on time except for excused emergencies.

Excused absences are given for professor mandated activities or legally required activities such as emergencies or military assignments. It is the policy of the University to excuse absences of students that result from religious observances and to provide without penalty for the rescheduling of examinations and additional required class work that may fall on religious holidays. Unavoidable personal emergencies, including (but not limited to) serious illness; delays in getting to class because of accidents, etc.; deaths and funerals, and hazardous road conditions will be excused.

If you are obtaining financial assistance (TA, STAP, FA, VA, Scholarship, etc.) to pay all or part of your tuition cost, you must follow your funding agency/institution’s policy regarding “I” (Incomplete) grades unless the timeline is longer than what the University policy allows then you must adhere to the University policy. Students who receive Financial Aid must resolve/complete any “I” (Incomplete) grades by the end of the term or he/she may be placed on “financial aid probation.” If the “I” grade is not resolved/completed by the end of the following term, the student’s Financial Aid may be suspended make the student ineligible for further Financial Aid.

Students are responsible for meeting the guidelines of Tuition Assistance and Veterans Assistance. See the education counselor at your local education center for a complete description of your TA or VA requirements.

Academic Integrity and Student Conduct

Academic integrity means honesty and responsibility in scholarship. Academic assignments exist to help students learn; grades exist to show how fully this goal is attained. Therefore all work and all grades should result from the student's own understanding and effort.

Academic misconduct is any act which improperly affects the evaluation of a student’s academic performance or achievement. Misconduct occurs when the student either knows or reasonably should know that the act constitutes misconduct. Academic misconduct includes: cheating and using unauthorized materials on examinations and other assignments; improper collaboration, submitting the same assignment for different classes (self-plagiarism); fabrication, forgery, alteration of documents, lying, etc…in order to obtain an academic advantage; assisting others in academic misconduct; attempting to commit academic misconduct; destruction of property, hacking, etc…; intimidation and interference with integrity process; and plagiarism. All students should review the Student’s Guide to Academic Integrity at http://integrity.ou.edu/students_guide.html

Students and faculty each have responsibility for maintaining an appropriate learning environment. All students should review policies regarding student conduct at http://studentconduct.ou.edu/
