Course Title:
Twelve Step Recovery Program

Course Number:
HR 5100-101

Course Description:
The Twelve Step program originally developed by the fellowship of Alcoholics Anonymous remains the most successful model for addiction recovery. Originally started as a self-help program, Twelve Step models are now an integral part of the counseling and treatment approaches to recovery from substance abuse and addiction. Additionally, a substance abuse, addiction, and Twelve Step recovery are frequently present in a significant number of persons seeking other therapy, thus therapy must be integrated with Twelve Step programs.

This course is an in-depth examination and analysis of the history and principles of Twelve Step programs. Students will explore ways in which the principles can be presented in the counseling setting, and ways by which the counselors can most effectively adapt the steps to address issues in the persons they counsel. The distinction between counseling and “sponsorship” (i.e., assistance and advice of more experienced program members) will be explored in detail.

This course is for both the counselor in an addiction treatment setting, and the counselor treating recovering addicts for other issues.

Course Objectives:

By completing this course, the student should:

1. be able to integrate counseling methods and twelve step recovery principles;
2. knowledgeably discuss the history and development of the twelve step recovery programs;
3. understand the psychological factors that create and sustain addiction;
4. be able to utilize counseling methods to assist in replacing causative factors with those leading to recovery;
5. understand the importance of recognizing individual differences in addicts when integrating the recovery principles with counseling methods; and
6. be able to help the client distinguish between therapy approaches and personal recovery choices in order to integrate the two.

Assignments, Grading and Due Dates:

Please do not be hesitant to be original and creative in fulfilling these assignments. Exploring alternative ways to explain and guide others through the Twelve Step Program is a major goal of this course.

Every student is expected to participate in each group meeting, presentation, and class discussion to receive credit for those parts of the course.

1. Read Alcoholics Anonymous (the “Big Book”), beginning with the Preface, the Forwards, and “The Doctor’s Opinion” through “Dr. Bob’s Nightmare”. Also read Addict Nation. Finally, read the Clinician’s Guide to Twelve Step Principles. All reading assignments should be completed prior to the first class meeting. Each student should submit two 3-4 page papers at the beginning of the first class session.

   a. Alcoholism and drug addiction are often considered primary diseases, meaning that treatment of co-existing disorders cannot be accomplished until the person stops drinking or using drugs. Your essay should discuss whether or not you agree with this approach, using materials from your readings where appropriate. Due the beginning of the first class session. 20 points
b. Make a list of at least ten 12-Step Recovery programs and identify what disorder is associated with each one. Select one type of addiction (alcohol, drugs, gambling, co-dependency, etc.), and discuss how you would try to integrate that program into treatment for a hypothetical client. Due the beginning of the first class session. 20 points

2. In Class Group assignments (Each group will turn in a written summary.)
   a. At the first class session, each student will be assigned to a group. Each group will meet to discuss: “what is alcoholism?”, “how does it differ from drug addiction, or does it?”, “what is an addiction? Is it an allergy or a disease?” Each group will report its conclusions to the class for further discussion. 5 points
   b. Each group will discuss the following: What benefits beyond the steps do meetings provide? Are A.A. meetings a form of group psychotherapy? How does group therapy differ from individual counseling? What are the differences between a “fellowship” such as A.A. and group therapy? Each group will discuss this issue and report its conclusions to the class. 5 points
   c. Psychoanalysis (Freudian) is largely based on the healing benefit of self-knowledge. Is this of value to an alcoholic? Each group will discuss this issue and report its conclusions to the class. 5 points
   d. Twelve Step programs stress the importance of becoming an active participant in a 12-Step fellowship as well as continued participation. In contrast, therapy is usually self-limiting; with patients discontinuing therapy once they have achieved resolution of the presenting problem. Each group will discuss the pros and cons of continued participation in 12-Step programs once the client is successfully clean, sober, etc. 5 points
   e. Some argue that non-addicts are less effective in the treatment of alcoholics and other addicts. As a group, discuss this issue and report to the class why you agree or disagree with this position. 5 points
   f. The topic will be the reasons some people fail to recover, including the problems of self-delusion and its causes and effects. The opinions of the groups will be presented and followed by discussion. 5 points

3. Individual in-class assignments
   a. Practicing alcoholics have numerous attitudes and actions that are troublesome to the alcoholic and to others associated with her or him. After a discussion of the topic, each student is to submit in writing what he or she considers to be the two most debilitating attitudes or actions in three of the alcoholic’s relationships: intrapersonal, marital-family, social, and vocational-professional. 10 points
   b. A spiritual awakening was called “God awareness” by Wilson. How does a belief in God help an alcoholic? Are there drawbacks to the belief? Why do 12-Step programs refer to a “higher power” rather than simply using the term God. 10 points
   c. Each student will reword the twelve steps in a manner that would be clear to a new person who is uneducated. This assignment should be written for the professor, and presented orally by each student to the class. Class discussion follows. 10 points

4. The professor will lecture on:
   a. The history of A.A., including the influence of the Oxford Group;
   b. The development of recovery methods by Bill Wilson and Dr. Bob Smith;
   c. The development of the book “Alcoholics Anonymous.”
   d. The history of Alanon Family Groups, Narcotics Anonymous, and Over Eaters Anonymous.
   e. People who influenced the thinking of Wilson and Smith, either directly or indirectly. They include Dr. Silkworth, Ebby Thatcher, William James, Karl Jung, and Sigmund Freud. The contributions of each will be discussed.
   f. The role of the sponsor will be explained.
g. Types of AA/NA etc. meetings
h. The 12 Traditions of Alcoholics Anonymous

5. More recently, many alcoholics and other addicts recover primarily by attending A.A. meetings. We will have a quasi A.A. meeting with the discussion topic of “Should special groups (American Indians, gay men or women, professional people) be allowed to have meetings that exclude others?”

6. Conclusions and Wind-up
