Course Title:
Topics in International Studies: EU, NATO, and European Security

Course Number:
IAS 5940-222

Course Description:
This course will study the historical and current themes of the developing European experience from the perspectives of both Americans and Europeans. We will examine how an increasingly wealthy Europe deals with the economic, military, immigration and social pressures it experiences from the Middle East, Russia and North Africa. Of particular interest will be the changing dynamic of the trans-Atlantic partnership and what challenges it holds for North Americans.

Course Objectives:

Students will develop a greater understanding of the European perspective towards international affairs, defense and security issues – and how this differs from the American perspective.

Despite having been devastated by the greatest conflict in the history of mankind, the Second World War, Europe has accomplished an impressive recovery over the past 60 years. Indeed, much of the world’s focus has remained on Europe since the end of the Cold War as it continues to solidify politically through the European Parliament, economically via the European Union (EU) and militarily with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO). America must now balance its international and economic policies with this enlarging European entity – a new dynamic with implications for global security.

POLICIES AND NOTICES

Attendance/Grade Policy
Attendance and participation in interaction, individual assignments, group exercises, simulations, role playing, etc. are valuable aspects of any course because much of the learning comes from discussions in class with other students. It is expected that you attend all classes and be on time except for excused emergencies.

Excused absences are given for professor mandated activities or legally required activities such as emergencies or military assignments. Unavoidable personal emergencies, including (but not limited to) serious illness; delays in getting to class because of accidents, etc.; deaths and funerals, and hazardous road conditions will be excused.

If you are obtaining financial assistance (TA, STAP, FA, VA, Scholarship, etc.) to pay all or part of your tuition cost, you must follow your funding agency/institution’s policy regarding “I” (Incomplete) grades unless the timeline is longer than what the University policy allows then you must adhere to the University policy.

Students who receive Financial Aid must resolve/complete any “I” (Incomplete) grades by the end of the term or he/she may be placed on “financial aid probation.” If the “I” grade is not resolved/completed by the end of the following term, the student’s Financial Aid may be suspended make the student ineligible for further Financial Aid.

Students are responsible for meeting the guidelines of Tuition Assistance and Veterans Assistance. See the education counselor at your local education center for a complete description of your TA or VA requirements.

Academic Honesty
Honesty is a fundamental precept in all academic activities and … [you] have a special obligation to observe the highest standards of honesty. Academic misconduct in any form is inimical to the purposes and functions of the University and is therefore unacceptable and is rigorously proscribed. Academic misconduct includes:

- cheating (using unauthorized materials, information, or study aids in any academic exercise), plagiarism, falsification of records, unauthorized possession of examinations, intimidation, and any and all other actions that may improperly affect the evaluation of a student’s academic performance or achievement; assisting others in any such act; or attempting to engage in such acts.

All acts of academic misconduct will be reported and adjudicated as prescribed by the student code of the University of Oklahoma. All students should review the “Student’s Guide to Academic Integrity” found at http://www.ou.edu/provost/integrity
