Course Objectives:

The purpose of the course is to help the student:

- identify the recent sociocultural trends driving and influencing the changing nature of work, organizations, and careers;
- understand how contemporary management approaches, (e.g., reengineering, downsizing, employee leasing, and mergers) have impacted organizations and careers;
- recognize the roles of technology, globalization, information, and new educational strategies on career development;
- review the major career theories and understand their implications for organizational and individual dynamics and functioning;
- develop knowledge and skills related to conducting career coaching and/or career counseling procedures with clients and employees;
- explore how career anchors, occupational interests, and personality traits affect personal lives and careers;
- integrate concepts of career development systems, collegiate education, executive education, certification, and continuing education with organizational development;
- identify leadership and management concepts needed for the workplace of the future; and
- implement personal strategies for dealing with life transitions, mature career planning, responsible job holding, career development, and becoming effective organizational contributors.
Assignments, Grading and Due Dates:

1. Class Participation. Each student is expected to attend each class meeting. In addition, it is expected that each student will participate fully in class activities and discussion. The nature of the course is such that this is critical. Please bring your texts and Career Anchors to the class sessions. Class participation is 20% of the final grade.

2. Preliminary Assessments. Each student must complete the MBTI (#04 above) and the Strong Interest Inventory (#05 above) before December 29, 2011. Instructions are included on page 5. The results will be returned to the students during in-class exercises for personal career exploration. All results will be kept confidential and are for student’s personal use only. Completion of assessments is worth 5% of the final grade.

3. Readings. Students are required to read the Greenhaus and Knowdell texts before the first class in preparation for class discussions, group work, and individual projects.

4. Pre-class Paper. Prepare a pre-class paper by choosing any five discussion questions from the following chapters of the Greenhaus text: Chapter 1 (p. 18), Chapter 2 (pp. 39-41), Chapter 3 (p. 60), Chapter 7 (p. 225-226), Chapter 8 (pp. 256-257), Chapter 9 (pp. 283), Chapter 11 (p. 349-350), and Chapter 12 (p. 379). This paper should be typed and double-spaced. Responses may be up to, but no more than, one page per question in length. This paper is due the first class session and will contribute 15% of your final course grade.

5. Final Examination. The final examination will be in an “open book” essay form covering topics from the lecture modules, e.g., historical perspectives of training and development, organizational approaches to career management, theories of career development, life transitions, educational strategies for career enhancement, future trends in organizational and career development presented in the course and the texts’ content. You will be expected to compare/contrast, examine, analyze, evaluate, and synthesize key concepts covered by the class. The exam is worth 35% of your final grade.

6. Post-Seminar Assignment: Job Search Paper. Submit a formal paper of 8 to 10 pages dealing with careers. The paper will be in three parts. In the first section, the student should select an industry of his/her choice, e.g., commercial aviation, health care, education. Describe, in about three to five pages, what he/she feels will happen in that industry in the coming decade in terms of job opportunities and careers.

In the second part of the paper, students should select a hypothetical career in that industry, e.g., flight professor, social science teacher, substance abuse counselor. Describe, in three to five pages, his/her personal characteristics, experiences, occupational interests, and personality traits that would predispose her/him for being an effective candidate for that career choice. Go on to discuss what additional training, experiences, entry level positions, and lifelong learning the student would engage in to enhance employability security in the career.

In the final several pages, prepare a résumé, one to three pages, for a potential employer in that industry that would help the student to obtain such a career position. If the student would prefer, the last part of the paper can address how she/he would create an entrepreneurial opportunity for herself/himself in that industry either as a proprietor or a consultant for his/her organization.

It is expected that there will be references and databases to justify the trends and directions that the student feels will occur in the industry. The student may use his/her class exercise data to document personal characteristics in relation to the career choice. This paper is worth 20% of your final grade. Due Date: February 19, 2012.
Grading: This is a letter-graded course: A, B, C, D, or F.
