What are some recent improvements to oZONE?
The confusing Search box in the top left part of some of the web pages has been removed.

Course designators have been added to the entries in the Subject drop-down box in the Class Search.

The date of birth format on the Student Academic Transcript has been changed from dd/mm/yyyy to mm/dd/yyyy.

Students can now see their advisement status for a term through the Check Advising Status link in the Enroll for December Intersession and Spring 2010 Term channel.

OZONE ALERT

Volume 19 | October 19, 2009

Enrollment Information is Front and Center for Students

The Home tab has an oZONE Alert channel containing links to the YouTube videos showing students how to look up classes and enroll. The text in the oZONE Alert channel also directs the student to the Academics tab to look up classes and enroll.

A full-page insert illustrating the basics of how to enroll in oZONE is included in Wednesday’s OU Daily. A mass email is also planned to go out to students this week providing them with enrollment information and instructions.

The Enroll for December Intersession and Spring 2010 Term channel on the student Academics tab is prominently placed at the top. The last link in the channel goes to the step-by-step instructions for searching for classes, enrolling and other functions. The Academics tab also contains an Enrollment Feedback channel for students.
