2012 Summer Study Abroad Programs Refund Policy

If you are not accepted in the program your $200 deposit will be returned to you. If the program is canceled your deposit and all other program costs will be returned to you.

For the Costa Rica (Intersession) Program:

- If a student withdraws from the program before October 19th he/she will receive a refund of the $200 deposit.
- If a student withdraws from the program between October 19th and October 31st he/she will receive a refund of 40% of the total program cost, less the $200 deposit. The students will not receive a refund for the expenditures related to the program that have already been made.
- If a student withdraws from the program between November 1st and the departure date and the departure date he/she will receive no refund.

For the Summer Study Abroad Programs

- If a student withdraws from the program before March 1st he/she will receive a refund of the $200 deposit.
- If a student withdraws from the program between March 2nd and March 30th he/she will receive a refund of 60% of the total program cost, less the $200 deposit. The students will not receive a refund for the expenditures related to the program that have already been made.
- If a student withdraws from the program between March 31st and April 17th (Tax Day for 2012), he/she will receive a refund of 30% of the program cost, less the $200 deposit. The students will not receive a refund for the expenditures related to the program that have already been made.
- If a student withdraws from the program between April 18th and the departure date he/she will receive no refund.

Requests for withdrawal from the program must be made in writing to Ana Bolino, International Study Abroad Coordinator. In case of medical emergencies and substantiated and unforeseen circumstances exceptions may be made from the above refund policy.

I have read and understood the above information.

_________________________  _________________________
Program Participant                     Date