THE ARTHUR B. ADAMS SOCIETY DINNER

Oct. 8, 2014

SAM NOBLE OKLAHOMA MUSEUM OF NATURAL HISTORY
Welcome to the fifth annual celebration of the Michael F. Price College of Business Arthur B. Adams Society. With the launch of the University of Oklahoma’s 125th Anniversary “Live On, University” campaign, Adams Society members represent the most engaged supporters of OU and Price College during this transformational period. Your generosity supports our college as we pursue the Purpose of Price - to ensure the enduring global competitiveness of Oklahoma and the nation. Tonight, we highlight the exciting accomplishments of our students, faculty, staff and programs that make Price College such a remarkable institution at OU.

In recent weeks, Price College has been recognized as a top educational program by a multitude of rankings. The Center for Entrepreneurship was named a Top Five entrepreneurship program at the undergraduate level by The Princeton Review, and our graduate program was named in the Top 20. This is the fifth consecutive year Entrepreneurship has been named a Top 10 program and has been ranked second among public universities two years running. The MBA Program was also recently ranked in the Top 10 (#7) in the country by CollegeAtlas.org, the Supply Chain Management Program has returned to the Top 20 according to Gartner and, for the 10th consecutive year, our International Business Program was ranked in the U.S. News & World Report’s Top 25.

Our undergraduate and graduate students continue to successfully compete in a national and global scale. This past year, five different student teams traveled to six different business plan competitions. In each case, our teams finished in the top three and two teams won first place in their national competitions.

Our faculty presence is also stronger than ever before. We’ve welcomed eight new full-time faculty members to the college this fall, and had the highest level of research productivity in at least the last decade. Of particular note is the fiscal investment our faculty are making in the college as this year’s Adams Society induction class includes more faculty members than any other year, nearly quadrupling faculty’s involvement since the inaugural year.

As we launch our campaign in conjunction with the University’s 125th, we must continue to capitalize the college, connect our community and fulfill the Purpose of Price as we prepare leaders Oklahoma and the nation needs.

CLOSING REMARKS AND CELEBRATION
Michael F. Price is managing partner of MFP Investors, LLC in New York. A Long Island native, he grew up a Sooner football fan and earned his BBA from OU in 1973. Michael began his career in finance as a research assistant at Heine Securities. By 1988, he was the sole owner of the company. He increased the value of the mutual funds he managed to more than $17 billion before selling Heine Securities to Franklin Securities for $670 million in 1996.

Michael returned to OU in 1997 to make history with the announcement of an $18 million gift to the College of Business Administration. It was, for that time, the largest single gift to a public university and the largest single gift to a higher education institution in Oklahoma.

He was awarded an Honorary Degree from OU in 1998, the same year he served as Commencement speaker. Michael currently serves as an executive cabinet member for the University of Oklahoma 125th Anniversary Campaign.

Danny Heatly graduated from OU with a bachelor of accountancy degree in 1978. He served as senior vice president of accounting and chief accounting officer for Devon Energy before retiring in 2011. Prior to joining Devon in 1989, Danny began his professional career at Peat Marwick Main & Co., (now KPMG LLP) in Oklahoma City where he served as its senior audit manager. He is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Oklahoma Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Danny is a member of the Steed School of Accounting’s board of visitors and recently served as an adjunct professor for Price College’s graduate-level oil and gas accounting course. He is a founding member of the Price College Adams Society and a lifetime member of the OU President’s Associates. He received the OU Regent’s Alumni Award in 2009 and currently serves as an alumni representative on OU’s Athletic Council.
