The University of Oklahoma Panhellenic Association Awarded Excellence Award from National Panhellenic Conference

NORMAN, OKLAHOMA – The University of Oklahoma Panhellenic Association, a cooperative association comprised of all sororities on campus belonging to the National Panhellenic Conference (NPC), today announces it is one of 11 campuses receiving the College Panhellenic Excellence Award. The University of Oklahoma Panhellenic Association is one of 32 universities to receive a prestigious recognition from NPC.

The purpose of College Panhellenics is to develop and maintain sorority life and interfraternity relations at a high level of accomplishment. As an award recipient, The University of Oklahoma Panhellenic Association is doing just that.

“We are truly honored to receive this award,” said Anna Royce, Panhellenic president. “It is rewarding to know that National Panhellenic Conference recognizes the hard work and dedication of our Panhellenic women.”

In its second year, NPC has recognized student-managed College Panhellenics with awards of excellence and achievement. The 11 Excellence Award recipients meet all seven areas of criteria:

- Recruitment
- Panhellenic structure
- Communication with NPC area advisor
- Judicial procedures
- Panhellenic programming
- Academics
- Panhellenic community impact and relations

“Our high-performing College Panhellenics are an integral component of the entire fraternity and sorority community across the globe,” said Julie Johnson, Panhellenics Committee chairman for NPC. “It is an honor to work alongside these bright women who represent what it means to be a thriving sorority woman in today’s world.”
