Student Health Services

OU-Tulsa students pay a health fee each semester that funds the Student Health Clinic. The fee covers a menu of services to students at no additional charge. Should the student require services beyond those covered by the student health fee, the student’s personal health insurance or student will be billed. The OU Regents Policy requires that all Health Science students have insurance.

OUHSC students and graduate assistants on the Academic HealthPlans insurance coverage should use the student clinic as their initial point of contact. To obtain maximum coverage by AHP for health services provided outside the student clinic, the student will need to obtain the appropriate referral through the Student Health Clinic. Check the AHP website: www.ahpcare.com, for details regarding covered services.

OUHSC students who have personal health insurance other than AHP may use the Student Health Clinic for those services provided free with their health fee, but are not required to use them as their initial point of contact. These students should abide by the specifics of their particular health plans.

Our staff is dedicated to serving student health needs.
