Course Description: One of the primary ways that leaders manage change is to employ strategies that have been proven to work. The study of management and leadership across multiple fields has a tremendous amount of information available for translation into the world of Child Welfare and Human Service. In this workshop, participants will explore their own leadership strengths and styles, and will also delve into research about how to apply strengths into research based approaches to leading change.

Training Group: This training is for Child Welfare Supervisors, County Directors, and Child Welfare Field Liaisons and is limited to 30 participants.

OKDHS Dress Code: Business casual / work attire.

Credit: Participants are reminded that anyone missing more than 30 minutes of a workshop may not receive full credit or may be sent home.

Cell Phones/ Electronics: Due to the nature of employment with Child Welfare it is understandable for participants to have cell phones in class. However, out of respect to the trainers please keep phones on silent and excuse your self to the hall if you must take a call. Use of laptops, IPods, IPads, etc are not permitted during training sessions.

Cancellation: If you find you cannot attend after you have registered, please email CNizza@ou.edu.
