Dear ,

The School of Library and Information Studies is required by both the University of Oklahoma Graduate College and by our accrediting body, the American Library Association Committee on Accreditation, to monitor the academic progress of each student.

One way we assess students is to ask faculty advisors to check her or his advisees’ progress in two areas - completion of core courses and that degree completion will occur within the five-year time limit. Also checked in this process is whether or not your Program Planning Form has been filed. Below are the comments of Dr. based on the records we have in the SLIS office.

I hope this overview of your current standing provides you with a sense of satisfaction as you advance toward your educational goals. If you have questions about the information below, please contact Dr. .

Sincerely,

Maggie Ryan
Coordinator of Admissions
