

November Contents

Puterbaugh Section: Bei Dao

- Bei Dao profile + Puterbaugh lecture + section intro by Daniel
- Bei Dao, 7 poems (“Black Map” en face with original), tr. Eliot Weinberger
- Bei Dao interview by Tang Xiaodu, tr. Haun Saussy (abridged)
- Bei Dao, “If the Sky Could Live Forever: In Memory of Xiong Bingming” (essay), tr. Jonathan Stalling & Yongan Wu
- Michael Palmer, “We Await” (poem-tribute to Bei Dao)
- Yibing Huang, “‘Green, how I love you green’: Lorca, Bei Dao’s Waves, and Sleepwalking in History”

New Baltic Poetry

Guest edited by Inara Cedrins

- Latvia: Inga Abele (3 poems), Eduard Aivars (2-3 poems)
- Lithuania: Erika Drungyte (1 poem), Donatas Petrošius (1-2 poems), Vytas Dekšnys (1 poem)
- Estonia: Kalju Kruusa (1 poem), François Serpent (1 poem)

Editor’s note

Letters [Lois Ava-Matthew + Anna Paterson response]

Notebook (a four-page miscellany)

Off the Air

- Alan Cheuse reviews Evan S. Connell, Claire Keegan, Tan Twan, Roma Tearne, Ma Jian, Muhammad Khudayyir

International Crime & Mystery

- J. Madison Davis, “Mix and Match: Michael Chabon’s Imaginative Use of Genre”

Poetry

- Pireeni Sundaralingam (Sri Lanka), 3 poems
- Maya Bejerano (Israel), 2 poems, tr. Tsipi Keller

WLT Interview

- Etgar Keret (Israel) by Michelle Johnson + “The Pricking” (short story)

Arts & Culture

- Xiaolu Guo (Chinese novelist / filmmaker) interview with Zhen Zhang (NYU)

Fiction

- Alexis Wright (Australia), excerpt from Carpentaria (Atria, Jan09) + mini-interview

Currents

- Anushiya Sivanarayanan on Sri Lankan Tamil diaspora writer Shobasakthi + online short story (“Barabas”)

World Literature in Review

Outposts: Literary Events & Landmarks

- Marla Johnson reporting from the Göteborg Book Fair (9/25-28)