The University of Oklahoma Alumni College, developed by the Alumni Association and University departments, will allow alumni and friends an in-depth look inside specific University programs and facilities.

The program, which is open to both alumni and friends will give you opportunities to connect with some of our most amazing faculty and students. The sessions also will provide an overview of the diverse scholarship and research taking place on campus. Finally, the Alumni College will give you a sense of campus life, which will help to re-create memories and create new ones.

The program this fall will encompass five university departments, and each includes an afternoon full of educational lectures, hands-on activities, tours and receptions. The next section provides an overview of each session.

All sessions will be held during the afternoon and include a reception. Once you are registered, you will receive notice via e-mail of when and where each session will take place, as well as a map and parking instructions.

For more information, visit the OU Alumni Association website at www.ou.edu/alumni or contact us at (405) 325-1710 or by e-mail at alumni@ou.edu.
OU President David Boren says that “the next generation must function internationally as never before and more emphasis needs to be placed in international and interdisciplinary programs.” OU’s International Programs and School of International and Area Studies are committed to enhancing the university’s international focus and bringing awareness to students, the state of Oklahoma and the country about important global issues. The School of International and Area Studies boasts an elite faculty whose interdisciplinary academic research and passionate teaching engages minds on campus and shapes thought around the globe.

To register, please fill out the attached form and mail to the University of Oklahoma Alumni Association, 900 Asp Ave., Suite 427, Norman, OK, 73019-4051. A self-addressed envelope has been included for your convenience. The cost to attend is $40 per person per session and $75 per couple per session. Once you are registered, you will receive notice via e-mail of when and where each session will take place, as well as a map and parking instructions. For more information or for accommodations on the basis of disability, please contact the OU Alumni Association at (405) 325-1710 or e-mail alumni@ou.edu.

TO A TASTE OF THE OU ARTS DISTRICT
Friday, Sept. 10, 2010
Join us for an exciting Taste of the OU Arts District! Your evening of entertainment and refreshments begins in the Donald W. Reynolds Performing Arts Center with a dance performance followed by a musical performance in historic Holmberg Hall. From there, guests will have a behind-the-scenes walking tour of the Rupel Jones Theatre and the Weitzenhoffer Theatre. For our final act, guests will hear the two magnificent organs in the Stanley B. Catlett Music Center. Join us for this magical evening, but keep in mind you will need good walking shoes.

OU COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING
Friday, Sept. 17, 2010
The College of Engineering recently celebrated 100 years of engineering education and research. At OU, faculty and students are generating world-class research in the areas of environmental science, aerospace, nanotechnology, energy and cyber security, to name a few.

To meet the long-term challenges of competing in the global arena, it’s critical we increase the numbers and diversity of our engineering workforce. To that end, in January OU opened Devon Energy Hall - a five-story, 100,000-square-foot facility that’s home to the School of Computer Science and the School of Electrical and Computer Engineering. In February, the ExxonMobil Lawrence G. Rawl Engineering Practice Facility was dedicated. It is a 41,000-square-foot building providing students with the best resources for hands-on, team-based and experiential learning.

Alumni College participants can look forward to:
- Tours of our two new stunning facilities
- Introduction to Sooner Engineering Education Center
- Introduction and demonstration of the National Oilwell Varco Drilling Simulator – one of only four in the world and the only one on a university campus
- Meet our best and brightest at a reception with CoE faculty, staff and students

CENTER FOR THE CREATION OF ECONOMIC WEALTH
Friday, Oct. 29, 2010
Administered by the Office of Technology Development at the University of Oklahoma, the Center for the Creation of Economic Wealth commercializes Oklahoma technologies by engaging interdisciplinary students, researchers and entrepreneurial mentors. Since its inception in 2006, CCEW commercialization teams have formed new companies, written award-winning business plans, created intellectual property, and raised more than $4 million to propel OU technologies to the marketplace.

Alumni College participants will engage in the following activities:
- Familiarize themselves with core activities of the program through interaction and discussion with CCEW interns, inventors and staff
- Learn about technology commercialization at the university, and about technologies currently being evaluated and promoted
- Participate in a “commercialization session” with CCEW teams to provide feedback and evaluate different paths to market

FRED JONES JR. MUSEUM OF ART
Friday, Nov. 12, 2010
Participants from the Alumni College will be given a tour of the museum and will visit the Bruce Goff: A Creative Mind exhibition. They also will attend a lecture in the auditorium from the director and the Adkins Curator about the future of the museum. Following the lectures, a reception will be held in the museum’s Sandy Bell Gallery.

OU INTERNATIONAL PROGRAMS
Friday, Nov. 19, 2010
OU President David Boren says that “the next generation must function internationally as never before and more emphasis needs to be placed in international and interdisciplinary programs.” OU’s International Programs and School of International and Area Studies are committed to enhancing the university’s international focus and bringing awareness to students, the state of Oklahoma and the country about important global issues.
