Follow OU Professors Todd Sandel (Communication) and Jonathan Stalling (English) as they lead a group on this exciting new academic experience abroad. Live for one month in Kunming, located in Yunnan Province, a unique and ethnically diverse part of China. Participate in overnight excursions to Lijiang and Xishuangbanna. Study intercultural communication and Chinese philosophy in American literature while experiencing China and the wealth of its culture.

COMM 3513—Intercultural Communication in Southwest China
ENGL 4003—Movements in World Literature: Chinese Philosophy in American Literature

No Chinese language experience or prerequisite courses are required. All coursework is in English.

Dates: June 28 — July 23, 2010
Scholarships: Up to $1000 available by application at http://casip.ou.edu

Program Application Deadline Extended to March 24, 2010
Cost: $1403
* Includes double-occupancy housing in the international dorm of Yunnan University, local field trips, all excursions and most meals on excursions, farewell banquet. Does not include roundtrip airfare U.S.—China, tuition and fees for six credits, passport, miscellaneous personal expenses, textbooks, local transportation, meals in Kunming except group meals, medical insurance.

Karen L. Elmore
College of Arts and Sciences International Programs Coordinator
Ellison Hall 232
Tel: 405-325-4716
Fax: 405-325-7709
karenelmore@ou.edu
http://casip.ou.edu

Walk-in Advising for Study Abroad
Tues. & Wed. 10-11:30
Mon. & Thurs. 1:30—3