This class covers the period from Newton’s discovery of the laws of gravity and motion to the modern biotechnology revolution. We explore the nature of modern science and its interaction with modernity, especially music, art, economics, and politics.