Planning to Return to Campus

Do you know the latest information regarding how to stay safe and healthy on campus?

The OU-Tulsa COVID-19 Return Plan is newly updated and full of valuable information. Make sure you know all the guidelines expected on topics such as wearing masks and social distancing, keeping shared spaces clean, telecommuting, testing and contact tracing, gatherings on campus, and facility accessibility and usage. It’s important that each member of faculty, staff member and student knows the rules so we can all return to campus safely.

As the situation in our community continues to change, university leadership regularly evaluates this plan and implements new and revised requirements, so watch for updates in the future. The August 5 updates are highlighted in yellow on the document.

Read the plan

Quick Read: Classroom Guideline Overview
Not sure what to expect as you head back to campus?

Whether you’ve been back for awhile or are making plans to return, all faculty, staff and students should read through the OU-Tulsa COVID-19 Return Plan. But for a quick resource to answer your questions, we have put together a short reference document with highlights from the full plan. Click below to read the very brief Classroom Guideline Overview Fall 2020.

Read the Overview

Still have a question after reading the Return Plan? Submit them here and we will develop an FAQ to respond to questions.

Submit questions