Community Based Participatory Research Project

Through my community based research, I have been organizing additional support systems for Myanmar women refugees in the Dallas area. I planned and conducted a forum for some 50 Myanmar women refugees on the 2nd of February, 2016. My research will be at the stage of social research and development in 2017. It is within that framework I will develop an original prototype of social work intervention for these women with my colleague.

Consultant & Collaboration (pro-bono)

I have been collaborating with a NGO in Dallas providing services which respond to needs and strengths I found in my MWR research.
