

ARN HENDERSON, FAIA
ARCHITECT, EDUCATOR, POET, HISTORIAN

2024 Nomination to the Gibbs College of Architecture Hall of Fame

BIOGRAPHY

Arnold G. “Arn” Henderson was born November 10, 1934, in Oklahoma. He earned degrees in architecture and architectural engineering from the University of Oklahoma in 1961 and a Master of Architecture from Columbia University in 1964. He served as Assistant Professor of Architecture at the University of Illinois from 1964 to 1968; and as Associate Professor of Architecture at the University of Oklahoma for 34 years (from 1968 to 2002). He retired as Professor Emeritus of the University of Oklahoma Christopher C. Gibbs College of Architecture.

Throughout his career, Henderson was committed to the University of Oklahoma’s architecture program, and the teachings of Bruce Goff and the American School legacy. He was a devoted advocate of historical preservation in Oklahoma and the nation. Henderson was a poet, artist and author of several books, including Bruce Goff: Architecture of Discipline in Freedom; Architecture in Oklahoma: Landmark & Vernacular; and co-authored The Physical Legacy: Buildings of Oklahoma County, 1889 to 1931 with Bob L. Blackburn and Melvena Thurman. Arn Henderson joined Society of Architectural Historians in 1999 and was a member thru 2015. He served as the SAH Archipedia Coordinator for Classic Buildings-Oklahoma from 2014-2019.

Henderson designed and built his home in Norman, Oklahoma in 1976, which was recognized by the Oklahoma Chapter of the American Institute of Architecture (AIA) for its unique design. In 1996, he was elevated to the AIA College of Fellows for his exceptional professional career and contributions to the industry and community. In 2013 he received the Oklahoma Humanities Council’s highest honor, the Oklahoma Humanities Award, for his study of architecture as it relates to Oklahoma. Arn Henderson passed away on June 27, 2019.
