Course Objectives:
This course gives students the tools for conducting qualitative investigations in communication. By the end of the course, students will understand:

a) field ethnography
b) interviewing
c) constant comparative analysis,
d) thematic analysis,
e) ways of enhancing the quality of qualitative research, and
f) the difference between post-positivist and interpretive epistemologies.

By the conclusion of the course, students will be able to design a qualitative study and critique qualitative research articles.

Assignments, Grading and Due Dates:
The following course material is supplemented with material on the course D2L pages.

Manuscript Review: 15%
Students will be given an actual qualitative research manuscript. They will write a concise (about 1-2 page, single spaced) argument, which explains whether to recommend publication, rejection, or revision to a journal editor.

Final Project Plan: 5%
A short plan for the final paper will be submitted as a platform for early feedback.

Comprehensive Exam-style Questions: 40%
Students will complete a comprehensive exam. Answers will be supported by class readings.

Final Project: Prospectus or Two Article Critiques: 40%

a. The final paper will be a qualitative research prospectus. This document will be 10-15 pages in length and will include an abstract, rationale embedded within a literature review, research question(s), and proposed qualitative methodology (in terms of both data collection and analysis) for answering the research question(s). See assignment sheet for details.

b. Students may also choose an alternative paper in which they select two qualitative research reports published since 2000 (and originating from an approved journal). They will write two arguments (about 5-7 pages each), which explain and defend three strengths and three weaknesses of the research methodology for each published article.

Written assignments should be submitted to the D2L Drop Box as a Word Document attachment.

Grading:
This is a letter-graded course: A, B, C, D, or F.

POLICIES AND NOTICES

Attendance/Grade Policy

Attendance and participation in interaction, individual assignments, group exercises, simulations, role playing, etc. are valuable aspects of any course because much of the learning comes from discussions in class with other students. It is expected that you attend all classes and be on time except for excused emergencies.

Excused absences are given for professor mandated activities or legally required activities such as emergencies or military assignments. Unavoidable personal emergencies, including (but not limited to) serious illness; delays in getting to class because of accidents, etc.; deaths and funerals, and hazardous road conditions will be excused.

If you are obtaining financial assistance (TA, STAP, FA, VA, Scholarship, etc.) to pay all or part of your tuition cost, you must follow your funding agency/institution’s policy regarding “I” (Incomplete) grades unless the timeline is longer than what the University policy allows then you must adhere to the University policy.

Students who receive Financial Aid must resolve/complete any “I” (Incomplete) grades by the end of the term or he/she may be placed on “financial aid probation.” If the “I” grade is not resolved/completed by the end of the following term, the student’s Financial Aid may be suspended make the student ineligible for further Financial Aid.

Students are responsible for meeting the guidelines of Tuition Assistance and Veterans Assistance. See the education counselor at your local education center for a complete description of your TA or VA requirements.

Academic Honesty

Honesty is a fundamental precept in all academic activities and … [you] have a special obligation to observe the highest standards of honesty. Academic misconduct in any form is inimical to the purposes and functions of the University and is therefore unacceptable and is rigorously proscribed. Academic misconduct includes:

- cheating (using unauthorized materials, information, or study aids in any academic exercise), plagiarism, falsification of records, unauthorized possession of examinations, intimidation, and any and all other actions that may improperly affect the evaluation of a student’s academic performance or achievement; assisting others in any such act; or attempting to engage in such acts.

All acts of academic misconduct will be reported and adjudicated as prescribed by the student code of the University of Oklahoma. All students should review the “Student’s Guide to Academic Integrity” found at http://www.ou.edu/provost/integrity
