

Kye LeBoeuf

Assistant Director

Kye LeBoeuf grew up between Texas and Louisiana and now calls Oklahoma home where he has lived for the past 19 years. His 16+ years in Higher Education have been within the OU Student Affairs family, beginning with 4 years in the Education Abroad office, where he advised for African, Latin American, Asian and Middle Eastern destinations, followed by 10 years as a Health Educator at Goddard Health Center. He currently serves as Assistant Director of the Office of Student Conduct where he strives for inclusive conflict excellence while managing alternative dispute and conduct resolution services and outreach.

After earning his B.S. in Ecology from Texas A&M University, Kye began his professional career in West Africa with 3 years of service in the Peace Corps where he provided Community Development, Agroforestry and Health services. After returning to the United States, he moved to Oklahoma where he advised study abroad students while earning his M.A. in Literature from the University of Oklahoma. Wanting to ensure a “house divided”, he is currently earning through Oklahoma State University his M.S. in Peace Studies.

Kye loves spending free time with family, hanging with his adorable Mini-Schnauzer/Dachsund mix, tending to his garden and greenhouse, hiking, camping, reading, conducting genealogical research and volunteering. Kye’s favorite volunteer activities are as an Oklahoma County-based Election Official, a Returned Peace Corps Volunteer Mentor, and an OKC Point-In-Time Team Lead for the annual homeless population count.
