STUDENT LIFE
The UNIVERSITY of OKLAHOMA

WHAT WE VALUE

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

Greek organizations understand their members are students first. Our chapters challenge members to excel inside and outside the classroom through mentorship programs, study halls, academic workshops, and more.

LEADERSHIP & GROWTH

Our chapters foster leadership and personal development for their members in many ways. We expect students to leave their Greek organizations having grown as leaders. Student development is a continuing priority in our community.

LIFELONG SERVICE

Serving the community is a touchstone of the Greek experience. Whether contributing service hours, raising funds, or both, our chapters love giving back to the OU and Norman community. This service mindset extends long past the collegiate experience.

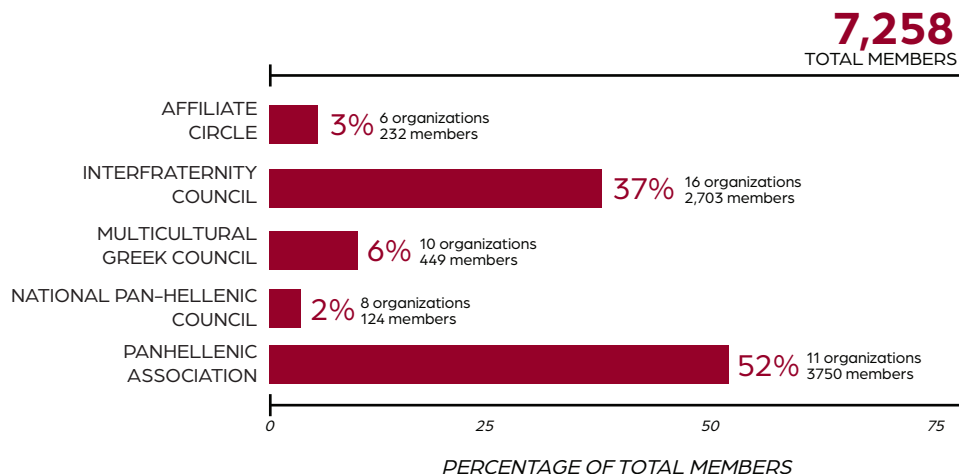

FRIENDSHIP & BELONGING

Brotherhood, sisterhood and siblinghood between members and organizations on campus is a vital part of the membership experience. These connections impact students and can help make a large campus like OU feel more like home.

WHO WE SERVE

Fraternity and sorority life at the University of Oklahoma totals more than 7,000 students, making up about 30% of the undergraduate student population. Today, our community boasts 50+ Greek-letter organizations, over 25 chapter facilities and five Greek councils. Each organization has its own rituals, traditions and philanthropies, but they all strive to live by our community values of academic excellence, leadership and growth, lifelong service and positive impact, and friendship.

Membership in Tri Delta has taught me how to lead with confidence, determination, and grace. It is so wonderful to be involved on campus with my Greek life friends, because I'm never alone in the extracurricular activities on campus! I love doing life with my peers who are academically successful, and also enjoy social and philanthropic events. I have loved all that being Greek has had to offer!

My favorite part of Greek life is the sense of brotherhood and shared purpose. It's more than just social events—it's about being surrounded by people who push you to grow academically, professionally, and personally. The accountability within a chapter, along with the lifelong network, creates an environment where you're constantly striving to be better.

LUIS RIVERA-GONZALEZ

Member of Omega Delta Phi Fraternity, Inc.
Multicultural Greek Council President

To the student who is considering Greek life, it can be one of the most meaningful decisions you make in college. The communities that surround you are not only strong, but deeply welcoming. Greek life is not about fitting into a mold - it's about finding where you belong. These organizations value you for who you are, your individuality, your passions, and your potential.

JULIA COATS

Member of Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority
Panhellenic Association President

The most impactful part of Greek life for me has been the relationships and leadership opportunities it's given me. Being surrounded by people who push you to be better every day has helped me grow both personally and professionally. It's given me the chance to step into leadership roles and make a real impact on the community, which is something I didn't expect coming in.

BRODY DAVIS

Member of Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity
Interfraternity Council President

The advice I would give to a new student is to truly be yourself. It can be easy to feel like you must show up as a polished or practiced version of who you think people want but that's not what we're looking for. We genuinely want to get to know you, your story, your personality, and what makes you unique. Greek life is about finding a space where you feel seen, supported, and valued.

CHLOEY BATISTE

Member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc.
National Pan-Hellenic Council President

AFFILIATE CIRCLE

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

Founded in 1905, IFC centers on leadership, service, scholarship, and community and encourages its members to live up to these values in all they do. The IFC is home to over 2,700 current members, making it the largest men's organization at OU.

HOW TO JOIN

NPHC organizations begin their membership intake processes by hosting an informational event. These events provide aspirants, or prospective members, information about the intake process and membership guidelines.

It's important to note that these processes are discrete. Intake information for organizations will often be posted on flyers around campus and on social media. We suggest following chapters on social media to stay updated on upcoming chapter events.

Attending chapter events open to the community (philanthropy, educational, or social events) or intake / recruitment events is a great way to learn more about the organization and members.

MEMBERSHIP EXPECTATIONS

We're thrilled that you are interested in joining the fraternity and sorority community here at the University of Oklahoma! Like any organization, joining a fraternity or sorority comes with a set of expectations and membership guidelines. New members can expect a time and financial commitment along with some other general membership expectations. These are great things to ask about during a recruitment or intake process!

TIME COMMITMENT

Like most things in life, fraternity and sorority membership can be described with the saying "you get out of it what you put into it." For most Greek organizations, students can expect a commitment of 1 - 2 hours a week for mandatory meetings, 3 - 5 hours a week for study hall or academic success sessions, and a few hours a week for other activities. Communicating your other commitments to your chapter is important and most have excusal processes for class, work, or other personal matters. Students often learn how to better manage their time during their membership experience.

MEMBERSHIP GUIDELINES

Greek organizations set their own local and/or national membership guidelines for members. These guidelines can differ from organization to organization, but some of the most common guidelines and expectations you can anticipate include:

ACADEMIC REQUIREMENTS

These requirements differ by organization but most chapters require members to maintain a minimum of a 2.5 - 2.75 GPA to remain in good standing. Most chapters also require members to complete a certain number of study hall hours per week.

CHAPTER & SERVICE REQUIREMENTS

This can include attending chapter events and programs, fulfilling any community service requirements, and generally contributing to the organization. Some chapters require members to be involved in at least one other organization on campus as well.

FINANCIAL COMMITMENT

All Greek organizations do require a financial commitment. Check out the section below for more information on the financial commitment and what to expect.

FINANCIAL COMMITMENT

It's vital to understand the financial commitment of joining a Greek chapter prior to accepting a membership bid. The new member period is often the most expensive time of membership due to one-time fees for initiation. We encourage you to ask about financial information during the recruitment or intake process. Cost estimates are outlined below including a range and average for each governing council.

Last year, over 70% of our Greek community received some kind of financial aid or scholarship. There are often local or national scholarships members can apply for to help cover the cost of membership. These are great questions to ask during any recruitment or intake process you are participating in.

THE GREEK FEE

Many services and resources provided to the Greek community are made possible through the Greek Fee. The Greek Fee is billed like other student fees through the student's individual university bursar account each April and November. The Greek Fee is charged the first semester a student joins a Greek organization as a new member and continues each semester of their membership. The Greek Fee is billed to individual members of the Greek community and is $30 each semester. For additional information, please visit link.ou.edu/greek-fee.

The Greek Fee is the only fraternity or sorority fee charged through the university's billing system. All other fees are paid through external third-party billing systems managed by local chapters. Any questions regarding membership dues should be directed to individual chapters.

GREEK CHAPTER FACILITIES

There are over 20 chapter facilities near campus. These facilities are privately owned and managed. Each has a live-in house director trained to run the facility and provide support to the students who live there. At OU, about 24% of the Greek community lives in a chapter facility near campus. The majority of students living in these facilities are in their second year of membership.

Live-in costs can include: membership dues and fees, meals, parking, and laundry. Some organizations require members to live in the chapter facility during their Greek experience. We encourage you to ask about this during recruitment or intake.

SAFETY & HARM PREVENTION

Sororities and fraternities are held to high standards by their national organizations, their advisors and the University of Oklahoma. There are online modules, mandatory workshops, and national training sessions that prepare members for a safe, meaningful and transformative new member experience.

MANDATORY EDUCATIONAL TRAININGS

New members of fraternities and sororities are required to attend university-mandated sessions on alcohol safety, active bystander intervention and hazing education. Fraternity and Sorority Programs and Services coordinates these trainings for the Greek community semesterly.

The safety and wellness of our students is our top priority, and these sessions equip and empower students to participate in responsible decision-making while in college.

NEW MEMBER RECRUITMENT & INTAKE MEETINGS

Two weeks prior to any membership intake or recruitment process, the chapter president, intake or recruitment officer, and new member educator will meet with the Fraternity and Sorority Programs and Services chapter coach to discuss their chapter's recruitment and intake process and new member education plans.

These meetings allow student leaders and university staff to work together to build a safe and meaningful experience for the newest members of our Greek community. Plans and educational programs are built with the organization's values and goals as well as university policies and procedures in mind.

STUDENT RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

At the University of Oklahoma, conduct of students and organizations in conflict with university policy is handled by the Office of Student Conduct. This office administers the university's accountability process and emphasizes positive behavior changes and improved decision-making. Student Conduct focuses on assisting students to overcome problems to successfully complete their educational goals.

In a spirit of transparency, Fraternity and Sorority Programs and Services has created organizational scorecards housed on our website, greek.ou.edu. Five-year violation records for each of our campus fraternities and sororities can be found online. Find the Campus Hazing Transparency Report at ou.edu/stop-hazing and click "Reports."

HAZING REPORTING

The University of Oklahoma is an anti-hazing institution. All campus fraternities and sororities are expected to comply with the University of Oklahoma Student Rights and Responsibilities Code at all times. Find the code at ou.edu/studentconduct.

The University of Oklahoma's ability to investigate reported incidents and enforce policies depends on the specificity of information reported. Concerned community members are encouraged to provide as much detail as possible when reporting so that appropriate action may be taken. Learn more at ou.edu/stop-hazing.

PARENT AND FAMILY RESOURCES

As a parent, guardian, family member, or supporter, you play a vital role in your student's success at the University of Oklahoma – including their fraternity or sorority experience! Membership within a sorority or fraternity can be a positive experience that will last a lifetime. It is important that parents, guardians, and families are educated about the enriching experiences that your students will find by getting involved and how to get involved themselves.

TIPS FOR SUPPORTING YOUR STUDENT

#1 Review Benefits of Joining Together

Joining the OU Greek community can bring personal development and lifelong friendships. Discussing these benefits as a family is the first step to determining if “going Greek” is something your student should consider.

#2 Help Your Student Understand How to Join

The process of joining a Greek organization differs by governing council. Review the processes to learn about our five unique Greek councils and 50+ individual organizations on campus. Visit our website at greek.ou.edu to learn more.

#3 Discuss Values and Priorities Together

The first few weeks may be overwhelming. Talk to your student about balancing their time and schedule during the first few weeks of classes. Your student will receive a schedule of new member activities before they begin the new member process. Encourage them to manage their time responsibly and remember they are a student before they are a fraternity or sorority member.

This is also a great time to discuss safety. Through education, training, and guidance, we provide tools and resources to help students make informed choices, while also understanding the consequences some choices can have. Encourage your student to stay informed on policies and procedures to make informed decisions.

#4 Understand the Time and Financial Commitments of Membership

Your student will have mandatory obligations as well as other opportunities to stay involved in the OU Greek community. Utilizing a planner or calendar may be beneficial for your student to manage their schedule. Ask questions about the financial commitments early – all Greek organizations do have a financial commitment for membership.

#5 Find Ways to Get Involved and Support Your Student

Explore ways to get involved with your student's Greek organization. The chapter may have events and volunteer opportunities for parents and families, such as parent weekends, parent clubs, newsletters, and parent volunteer roles. Encourage your student to make the most of their Greek experience. It can be a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for students. Discuss your expectations with your student and help hold them accountable for their choices. Learn as much as you can by asking questions. Be supportive, but when in doubt, call or email Fraternity and Sorority Programs and Services for support.

The staff in the Office of Student Life are always available to help. Should you need advice, support, or questions answered, we can provide assistance. Reach out at (405) 325-3163 or fsps@ou.edu. You can also find us on the fourth floor of the Oklahoma Memorial Union in Suite 428.
